

Name	Andrea "Vadrum" Vadrucci
Country	Italy
Genre	Session
Gear	Starclassic Performer B/B

From his drum arrangement of the Super Mario Bros theme song, which exceeded 20 million views on Youtube, to recording classical arrangements with a 36 piece orchestra, Andrea "Vadrum" Vadrucci, has transcended many genres to reach an incredible audience worldwide. After winning the Drummer of Tomorrow contest and graduating from Musicians Institute in Los Angeles, Andrea has had the privilege of performing in many prestigious international events - including sharing the stage with such drumming legends as Billy Cobham and Steve Gadd. In 2011, Andrea released his debut solo album, "Classical Drumming". Featuring a 36-piece symphonic orchestra and recorded at Paisiello Theatre in Lecce, Italy, the album topped charts on Amazon MP3 in the U.S., Japan and France. Today his video channel has over 70 million views and is the most subscribed Italian Music channel of all time. Andrea is now endorsed by Zildjian and TAMA, and was recently included in the top 500 drummers on Drummerworld.com.
